

Dear LNM,

8/05/20

I'm sorry that this letter will be less cheerful than the others, but I've made a grave discovery. By hacking into the noisy camp's systems, I found out that they're planning some sort of attack.

I've been trying to reach out to the friendly camp, but I haven't figured out how yet. I might try hacking into their instagram account and see what happens.

I also went by the friendly camp, but nobody was there, even the few who were there before. I'm very worried about them, I hope they just went to the store to get me some peanut butter, and that nothing awful happened. I'm very nervous.

By the way, what's the difference between a loch and a lake? Aren't they just the same thing? I'm just wondering why I don't have the same kind of massive fan base you have. Whatever.

Best,
HF